

INDEX.

A.

- ABASCIA (Abyssinia), kingdom of, p. 324. The inhabitants converted by St Thomas, 325. Its king defeats the ruler of Adel (Aden), 326. Productions of the country, 327.
- Abraimain (Bramina), order of, 293, 304-308.
- Achalech-Manji, province of, 153.
- Achmac, chief minister of Kublai, his wicked administration, 120-124. Is slain by Vanku and Chenku, 122.
- Acomat, the Saracen, contends for the Persian empire, 339. His battle with Argon, 342. Is seized and slain, 344.
- Acre, a city of Palestine, 99, 100.
- Adam's Peak, a mountain of Ceylon, 290.
- Aden (Adel), a kingdom and city of Eastern Africa, 325. Is invaded by the King of Abascia, 326.
- Aden, a city and kingdom of Arabia, 327. Inhabited by Saracens, ib. A great seat of Indian commerce, ib. Its sultan assists Saladin in the siege of Acre, 328.
- Alaodin, the Old Man of the Mountain, 227. His garden and castle, 227, 228. How he trained and employed his assassins, 228. His death, 229.
- Alau, or Hoolaku, ruler of Eastern Tartary, sends ambassadors to the great khan (Mangou), 97. Makes war with Barka, whom he defeats, 96, 352-355. Captures Bagdad and subverts the caliphate, 87, 96, 97, 210. Takes and puts to death the Old Man of the Mountain, 229. Is succeeded by Abaga, 338.
- Altai Mountains, where Gengis and his descendants are interred, 257, 263.
- Amu (Bamoo), province of, 170.
- Angaman (Andaman) Islands, 288, 289.
- Ararat, a celebrated mountain of Armenia, 207.

- Argiron (Erzeroum), a city of Armenia, 207.
- Argon, lord of the East, 103. His battle with Barak, 338. Contends with Acomat for the Persian empire, 339. Is defeated and taken prisoner, 343. His rescue and death, 344, 345.
- Armenia the Greater, 206, 207.
- Armenia the Lesser, 205. Is subject to the Tartars, ib.
- Arzinga, a city of Armenia the Greater, 206.
- Ascelin, or Anselm, a Dominican friar, his mission to the Tartars, then encamped in Persia, 60. Reception by Baiothnoy the Tartar chief, 61. His dismissal, 63.
- Astrologers and soothsayers, 143.

B.

- Baatu, a Tartar chief, 47, 64. His court, 71.
- Badascia (Badakshan), province of, 18, 232. Abounds in precious stones, 233, 234. Its chiefs descended from Alexander the Great, 233. Lapis lazuli mines, 234.
- Bagdad. See Baldach.
- Baiothnoy, a Tartar chief, 61. His letter sent by Ascelin to the Pope, 64.
- Baksi, priests of Boodh, their enchantments and idol worship, 135, 136.
- Baku, a city of Persia, abounds in naphtha, 207, 216.
- Baldach (Bagdad), city of, its capture by Hoolaku, 97, 210. Its rich cloths and great wealth, 210. Treasures of its caliph, 211.
- Balk (Balkh), city of, 230. Its decay, ib.
- Bangala (Bengal), province of, 169.
- Bangu (Eastern Siberia), country of, 263.
- Barka khan, 96. Defeated by Alau, ib.
- Barons, twelve great, appointed by Kublai, governors of provinces, 138.

- Basra (Bussora), city of, 210.
 Bayam, Kublai's general, conquers King Facfur, 177. Captures Cinghin-gui, 185.
 Belor (Beloor), a mountain range, 239.
 Bokhara, city of, 97.
 Boni, Count Baldelli, editor of two Italian versions of the Travels, 22, 28, 30, 31, 36, 124, 131, 138, 219.
 Buddhism in Central Asia, 247. Extensively diffused through Japan, 275.
 British Museum, MSS. of the Travels in, 26, 37.
 Brius river, 158.
 Bulgaria, a country on the Volga, 96.
 Burnes, Sir Alexander, 21, 249.
 C.
 Ca-cian-fu (Tong-tcheou), city of, 152.
 Ca-cian-fu (Ho-kien-fou), a city of Cathay, 173.
 Cai-gui (Qua-tcheou), city of, 184.
 Callor Kael, a city of Southern India, 308. The king possesses great treasures, ib.
 Calacian, a city of Tangut, Central Asia, 266.
 Calatu (Kalhat), a city at the entrance of the Persian Gulf, 331.
 Camandu, a city of Persia, 220.
 Cambala (Cambay), a kingdom of Western India, 316.
 Can-giu (Kiang-chan-fui), city of, 199.
 Canpicion (Kan-tcheou), capital of the province of Tangut, 252.
 Caralan, province of, 159.
 Carpini, a Franciscan friar, his mission to Cuyné (Kuyuk) Khan, 49. Reaches Kiev, 51. Arrives at a Tartar court, 52. His reception at the court of Cuyné, 55-58. Departure and return, 60.
 Casan or Ghazan, his contest with Baidu, 346. Assumed the sovereignty of Persia, 347.
 Cascar (Cashgar), province and city of, 18, 239, 240.
 Cathay or Katala, northern China, 120, 122, 143, 148. City of Cathay or Kambalu (Pe-king), 129.
 Caya-fu, a famous castle, 149.
 Chandu, a city of Tartary, 268.— See Shandu.
 Charlemagne, in his reign Germany emerged from barbarism, 42.
 Chaym (Kao-yeou), a large city, 180.
 Chen-gui (Yen-tcheou-fou), city of, 199.
 China, its greatness and civilisation, 21. Religion and Customs of the Chinese, 145.
 Chinese empire, unknown to Europeans before Polo's travels, 17, 18.
 Chinese navigation to India, 270.
 Chisi (Kishim), an island in the Persian Gulf, 210, 217.
 Ciagatai or Zagatai, one of the sons of Gengis, 221. Becomes a convert to Christianity, 240, 241.
 Cianba (Tsiompa), a country between Cochín China and Cambodia, 277. Kublai sends an expedition thither, ib.
 Cian-cian (Kiu-tcheou), a town on a mountain, 199.
 Cianganor, imperial palace at, 136, 268.
 Cian-gli (Te-tcheou), city of, 174.
 Cian-glu (Tsan-tcheou), city of, 173.
 Ciarcian (Karashehr), a province of Tartary, 244.
 Cin-ghian-fu (Tchin-kiang-fou), city of, 185.
 Cin-ghin-gui (Tchang-tcheou-fou), a great and noble city, 185.
 Cin-gui (Sut-zi-hien), city of, 176. Another city of the same name, 180.
 Clemenfu (Tai-yuen-fou), a rich and powerful city, 101.
 Clement IV., Pope, death of, 99.
 Cobi or Shamo, great desert of, 245, 246.
 Cobinam (Khubees), city of, 226.
 Collac, city of, 73, 74.
 Colion, a kingdom of India, 309-311.
 Comari, a country of Southern India around Cape Comorin, 311.
 Conci, king of Touran, 347.
 Condi-fu (Tsi-nan-fou), city of, 174.
 Cormos (Ormuz), a city and island in the Persian Gulf, 223, 332. A great emporium of Indian commerce, 223. Extreme violence of the heat, 224. Invaded by the King of Creman (Carmania), 225.
 Corvino, a Minorite friar, created Archbishop of Kambalu, 34.
 Cotan (Khoten), province of, 142.
 Couriers of the great khan, 139.
 Creman (Carmania), kingdom of, 219. Its productions and manufactures, ib. City of Creman (Kerman), 219, 220.
 Crusca MS. of the Travels, 36.
 Cun-chin, province of, 153.
 Cuyné (Kuyuk), khan, 54. Elected Emperor, 56. His letter to the Pope, 59. His death, 64.
 Cyn-gui, province of, 171.

D.

- Dandolo, Andrea, Doge of Venice, 89. His fleet defeated by the Genoese, 92.
 De Guignes, 124.
 Dogs, hunting, 130.
 Dominican friars; their mission to Persia, 49. Commence their journey, 60. Their reception by Baiothnoy, 62; and dismissal, 63.
 Dor, king, story respecting, 149. Carried a prisoner to Prester John, 150. Is restored to his kingdom, 151.
 Dufar or Dofar, a seaport of Arabia, 330.
 Du Halde's estimate of the revenues of China, 21.

E.

- Egrigaia (Ninghia), a province of Tangut, 266.
 Eighurs, a Turkish tribe, 45, 115, 247.
 Elephants, used in hunting excursions, 132.
 Eli or Dely, a kingdom of India, 311.
 Erginul, a kingdom and city of Tangut, 264.
 Escier (Shaher), a city of Arabia, 329.
 Euphrates river, 208.
 Europeans, excluded from China and the interior regions of Asia, 16.
 Ezina, a city of Tangut, 253.

F.

- Facfur, king of Manji or Southern China, 177. Conquered by Kublai, ib. Bounty to his subjects, 178.
 Falconry in China, 131.
 Festivals, magnificence of Tartar and Chinese, 125-128.
 Fire worshippers (Guebres) in Persia, 216.
 Fo-kien, province of, uncivilized tribes in, 200.
 Frampton, John, his English translation of Marco Polo, 38.
 French Geographical Society, editions of the Travels published by, 27.
 Fu-gui or Concha, kingdom of, 200. The capital, Fu-gui (Fou-tcheou-fou), a place of extensive trade, 201.

G.

- Gan-fu (Ning-po), a fine seaport and chief seat of foreign trade, 189.
 Gauri or Pariahs of Southern India, 297.
 Gengis, the first khan of the Tartars, 254. His battle with Prester John (Unchan or Ouang), 45, 255, 256. His conquests, 46, and death, ib. 256. His successors, 257.

- Geographical Society of Paris, editions of Marco Polo published by, 27. Superiority to previous ones, ib.
 Geo-gui or Gin-gui (Tao-tcheou), city of, 148, 172.
 Georgia, kingdom of, subject to the Tartars, 207. Account of its people and productions, 208.
 Ginhintalas (Barkoul), a province of Tangut, 250.
 Golconda, in India, diamond mines of, 301, 302.
 Gozurat, a kingdom of India, infamous for pirates, 313, 314.
 Great wall of China, 23.
 Gregory X., Pope, 100.

H.

- Hoang-ho, a river of China, 18. See Kara-moran.
 Hoolaku.—See Alau.
 Horsburgh, Mr., on the navigation of the Indian Ocean, 281.
 Huns invade Europe, 43.

I.

- Iconium, capital of Asia Minor, 83.
 Innocent IV., Pope, his letter to the Khan of the Tartars, 49.
 Islands of the Oriental Archipelago, 275, 276.
 Ismaelles or Assassins.—See Alaodin.

J.

- Japan, expedition of Kublai against, 18.—See Zipangu.
 Java, island of, 104, 278.
 Java, Little (Sumatra), 281. Kingdoms of, 282-288.
 Jomard, M., 31.

K.

- Kaidu, a powerful chief of Turkestan, 333. Rebels against Kublai, 108, 111. His battles and invasion of Karakorum, 334, 335. His death, 336. Exploits of his daughter Aigiarm, 336-338.
 Kain-du, province of, 157.
 Kambalu (Pe-king), capital of China, 111, 112. Description of the palace, 117; of the city, 118. Its suburbs, 119. Astrologers in, 143.
 Kamul (Khamil or Hamil), city and province of, 248.
 Kangigu, province of, 169.
 Karakorum, capital of the Mongols, 44, 78, 253.
 Karamoran (Hoang-ho), a great river of China, 151, 176, 179.
 Karazan, province and city of, 160. Its great snakes and serpents, 161. Wicked custom of the inhabitants, 162.

Kardandan, province of, 162. Magicians, 163, 164.
 Kataia.—See Cathay.
 Kesimur (Cashmere), a province of Northern India, 236.
 Kesmacoran (Mekran), a kingdom to the west of the Indus, 316.
 Khoten, a city of Turkestan, 18.
 Kiev, the ancient capital of Russia, 51.
 Kin-sai or Quin-sai (Hang-tcheou-fou), capital of Manji, 177, 187. Its extent and population, 187, 188. Lake, 188, 194. Baths, 189, 193. Palaces, 188, 190, 195. Squares and market-places, 191. Houses, ib. Revenues, 197.
 Kirghiz-tribe, roam over the wilds of Tartary, 238.
 Klaproth, M., 31, 34.
 Kogatal, a Tartar officer, 122.
 Koi-gan-zu (Hoi-ngan-fou), a city of Manji, 179.
 Kotou, or ceremony of prostration, 128.
 Kublai Khan, makes the conquest of China, 67. His reception of Nicolo and Maffio Polo, 98. His power and magnificence, 107. War with Nayan and Kaidu, 108-110. Favour for the Christians, 112. Opinions of the Christian Religion, 112, 113. Rewards to his soldiers, 114. His person, wives, &c., 115. Guards, 124. Magnificence of his festivals, 125. Hunting expeditions, 129, 130. Number and extent of his tents, 132. His wealth, 137. His governors of provinces, 138. Couriers, 139. Bounty to his subjects, 141. His death, 106.
 Kurds, inhabitants of the mountains of Mosul, 210.
 Kuyuk Khan.—See Cuyné.

L.

Laias (Aias), a city of Armenia the Lesser, 99, 101, 206.
 Lar, a province of India, 304.
 Lin-gul, city of, 175.
 Lions, trained to hunt, 130.
 Litan rebels against Kublai, and is slain, 174, 175.
 Lochac (Cambodia), province of, 279.
 Lop, city, desert, and lake of, 245.
 Louis, St., king of France, receives an embassy from the Tartars, 65. Sends William de Rubruquis on a mission, 66.

M.

Maabar, a province in the south of India, 293. The gulf between it and Ceylon, rich in pearls, 293, 294. Its Hindoo customs and superstitions, 294, 297. Manners and social condition of the inhabitants, 298-301.

 Madagascar, first mentioned by Polo, 19. The ruk a bird of, 22. The island described, 320, 321.
 Mailla's translation of the Chinese History, 124.
 Malacca, peninsula of, 280.
 Male and Female, islands so called, 317.
 Mangalu, son of Kublai, 152.
 Mangou, grandson of Gengis, 47. Chosen great khan, 64. His reception of Rubruquis, 76, 81. Superstitions of his court, 78. Desolates Thibet, 155.
 Manji, great province of, 148, 177. Conquered by Bayam, 187. Consists of nine kingdoms, 189. Its riches, ib. Astrologers, 190. Customs, ib.
 Marsden, Mr., passim.
 Martini, his description of the Chinese empire, 16, 23.
 Masulipatam, a province of India, 301.
 Melibar (Malabar), a kingdom of Southern India, 312.
 Mien, king of, defeated by the Tartars, 165-167. Province and city of Mien, 167-169.
 Money of the great khan, 137, 138.
 Mongol Emperors, invite foreigners to their courts, 34.
 Mongols, in Central and Eastern Asia, 42. Invade Europe under Attila, 43.
 Mosul, kingdom of, 207. Inhabited by various races, 209. An emporium for the commerce of Central Asia, ib.
 Musk animal described, 265.

N.

Nan-ghin (Nan-king), great city of, 181.
 Nayan, his rebellion against Kublai, 108. His defeat and death, 110, 111.
 Necuveran (Nicobar) Islands, 288.
 Nescardin, Kublai's general, defeats the King of Mien, 165.
 Nestorian Christians and Jacobites, 76, 77, 160, 209, 210, 213, 239, 242, 247.
 Nogodar, king of Reobarle, 221. His predatory expedition, and invasion of India, 222.

O.

Okkoday Khan, his invasion of Europe, 47. His death, 48.

Old Man of the Mountain. See Aladdin.
 Ouang Khan, or Prester John, 44.
 His death, 45.
 Oxus river, 238.

P.

Pamier (Pamir), a lofty table-land, 237-239.
 Parris, M., editor of the French Chronicles, 28.
 Pascia (Peshawar), province of, 235.
 Pau-chym (Pao-ying-shien), city of, 179.
 Pein (Bai), province of, 243.
 Pe-king, city of, 119. See Kambalu.
 Pentam (Bintang), an island in the Straits of Malacca, 280.
 Persia, province of, 215. Number of kingdoms in, 217. Excellence of its horses, ib.
 Pi-an-fu (Pin-yang-fou), city of, 149.
 Pin-gui (Pi-tcheou), city of, 176.
 Pipino, his Latin translation of the Travels, 26, 37.
 Polo, Nicolo and Maffio, their long residence in China, 90. Journey into the East and reception by Barka Khan, 96. Arrival at the court of Kublai, 98. Sent back on an embassy to the Pope, ib. Their arrival at Venice, 99. Return to China, 100. Final departure and arrival at Venice, 104-106.
 Polo, Marco, travels of, authenticity of the work, 14. General correctness of the narrative, 17-19; confirmed by recent travellers, 25. Observations on the manuscripts and editions of, 25-40. The author taken prisoner by the Genoese, 92. Regains his liberty, 93. Accompanies his father and uncle to China, 100. Is employed in embassies by Kublai, 102. His journey in China, 147. Is governor of Yan-gui (Yang-tcheou-fou), 181.

Pope of Rome, his paramount influence in Europe, 48, 49.
 Prester John.—See Ouang Khan.
 Pulisangan river, 147.
 Purchas in his Pilgrims uses Ramusio's edition of Marco Polo's Travels, 26.

Q.

Que-lin-fu (Kien-ning-fou), city of, 201.
 Quen-gian-fu (Si-ngan-fou), city of, 152.
 Quin-sai, city of, 21, 22.—See Kinsai.

R.

Ramusio's collection of Voyages and

Travels, 26, 31. Followed by Marsden, 31. Interpolated passages, 32-35, 105, 135.
 Reobarle, a province of Persia, 220. Its people and productions, 220, 221.
 Rhinoceros of Sumatra, 283.
 Rubruquis, William de, his mission to the Tartars, 66. Journey through the Crimea, ib. Visit to Scacatai, a Tartar chief, 68. His description of Comania and Russia, 68, 69. Arrival at the camp of Sartach, 69. Proceeds to the court of Baatu, 71. Journey through Tartary, 72, 73-75. Arrival at the court, and audience of the great khan, 75. Conference with the imperial secretaries, 80. His departure, 82. Journey homewards, 82, 83.

Russia, description of, 350.

Rusticians, the prison companion of Marco Polo, 28, 29, 32, 92, 96.

S.

Sacchion (Cha-tcheou), city of, 246.
 St Thomas, legends respecting, 302, 303.
 Salt, mountains of, 231.
 Samarcand (Samarcand), great and noble city of, 240, 242.
 Sapurgan (Shibbergaun), city of, 230.
 Saracens, their wicked principle, 124, 212. Hatred of the Christians, 213, 215.
 Sartach, a Tartar chief, 65.
 Sava, the city of the three magi, in Persia, 215.
 Sa-van-fu (Siang-yang-fou), city of, 181.
 Scassem (Koondooz), province and city of, 231.
 Socotra (Socotra) isle of, 318-320.
 Scythians, their early invasions of southern regions, 41, 42.
 Seilan (Ceylon), island of, 289-293. Abounds in precious stones, 289, 290. Origin of Buddhism in, 290, 291.
 Semenat (Sumnaut), a kingdom of India, 316.
 Sergamon Borcam, story of, 290, 291, 292.
 Shamanism, widely diffused through Eastern Asia, 73, 74, 86, 262.
 Shamo. See Cobi.
 Shandu, imperial palace of, in Tartary, 122, 133.
 Si-fan, a people of Thibet, 157.
 Sin-din-fu (Tching-tou-fou), province and city of, 154, 172.
 Sin-gui (Tsi-ning-tcheou), city of, 175.
 Sin-gui, a city on the Kiang (Yang-tse-kiang), 183.

Sin-gui (Sou-tcheou-fou), a great and noble city, 186.
 Sinugul (Sou-tcheou), city of, 171, 172.
 Sirocco, or simoom of the East, fatal effects of, 224.
 Sismondi, M., 21.
 Sondur and Condur (Pulo Condore, &c.), islands on the coast of Camboia, 279.
 Succiuir (Sou-tcheou), a city in the north-west of China, 251.
 Sumatra, island of, 18. See Java, Little.
 Sutte, prevalence of in Malabar, 297.

T.

Tai-kan (Khoollom), castle of, 231.
 Tai-in-fu (Tai-yuen-fou), kingdom and city of, 148.
 Tam-pin-gul, city of, 198.
 Tana (Bombay), a kingdom of India, 315.
 Tangut, province of, 246, 247.
 Tartars driven out of China, 16.
 Their invasions, 18, 42. Conquests under Gengis and Okkoday, 46, 47. Government, 83. Domestic condition, 84, 85. Religion, customs, and manners, 86, 258-263. Military system, 86, 87. Computation of time, 144. Their wars, and the order of their armies, 260-263.
 Tea, not mentioned expressly by name, 23, 143.
 Teflis, a city of Armenia, 209.
 Temugin, Khan of the Great Mongols, 44. Changes his name to Gengis, 46.—See Gengis.
 Temur, grandson and successor of Kublai, 116, 118.
 Tenduc, a province of Eastern Tartary, 267. The chief seat of Prestor John, 268. Called Gog and Magog, ib.
 Tents of the great khan, 132.
 Thibet, the chief seat of Boodhism, 155-157.
 Tholoman (part of Yun-nan), province of, 170.
 Ti-min-gul (King-te-ching), porcelain manufactures of, 203.

Tin-gui, city of, 180.

Toc-tai, his controversy with Nogai, 355, by whom he is defeated in a great battle, 358-360.

Tonocain (Daumghaun), province of, 226, 227.

Toris (Tauris or Tabreez), a celebrated city of Persia, 211.

Travellers, early, their credulity, 19.

Turcomania, races of men inhabiting, 206. Subject to the Eastern Tartars, ib.

Turkestan, a country of Central Asia, inhabited by the Turks, 42, 333.

U.

Ughim, city of, 186.

Un-gui (Kia-hing), city of, 186.

Un-quem (Ming-tsing), city of, 201.

Ural river, 73.

V.

Venice, a powerful state, 89.

Vociam, city of, 162. Kingdom of, 164.

Vokhan (Wakhan), province of, 237.

Volga river, 69, 71.

W.

Waldshut, battle of, 47.

Y.

Yaci (Chiaki), a city of Thibet, 159, 160.

Yang-tse-kiang or Kiang, a great river of China, 18, 183.

Yan-gui (Yang-tcheou-fou), city of, which Marco Polo governed, 181.

Yarcan (Yarcund), province of, 242.

Yarcund, city of, 18.

Yasdi (Yezd), a city of Persia, 218.

Z.

Zai-tun (Amoy), a noble port, 202.

Zanghibar (Zanguebar), a country on the eastern coast of Africa, 322.

Zipangu (Japan), invasion of by Kublai, how frustrated, 273, 274.

Idolatry and cruelty of the inhabitants, 275.

THE END.

Printed by Oliver and Boyd,
 Tweeddale Court, High Street, Edinburgh.